THREE NEW PARTNERS appointed to Lachlan Partners' senior ranks, including former Deloitte Director

Lachlan Partners is delighted to announce Eric Maillard, Roger Wilson and Nathan Haslem have been admitted to the partnership, effective 1 September 2010. In addition, David McCrorie is joining the firm as a Senior Advisor.

Eric Maillard joined the firm's Business Advisory division in June this year. A former client director at Deloitte and BDO, Eric has worked with small to medium enterprises for more than 13 years in a variety of industries both locally and internationally as a business advisor in professional practice.

Roger Wilson and Nathan Haslem both joined the firm as a result of the merger of boutique financial advisory firm, Peloton Private Client Advisers with Lachlan Partners in September 2010.

Working with professional practitioners and wealthy family groups, Roger offers expertise in financial strategy, structuring, estate and tax planning. For more than a decade, he has advised the medical sector on the most tax effective ways to acquire and operate private practices and related businesses.

Nathan Haslem brings particular strengths in Australian equities, structured investment products and portfolio construction to his financial advice and has managed more than $500 million for a portfolio of private clients. Nathan has had extensive experience in the UK working for JP Morgan in the Equity Derivative Group and AXA Barr Rosenberg as a valuation engineer.

Commenting on the appointments, Mr Philip Pezzi, Managing Director of Lachlan Partners said the appointments reflect a significant strengthening of the firm's wealth management and business advisory divisions and is a testament to Lachlan Partners' superior business model and overall service offering.

Lachlan Partners is a multi-disciplinary firm that has successfully integrated taxation, business advisory, wealth management, audit, property advisory and investment management services into a single platform for clients.

Lachlan Partners has over 100 staff and offices in Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane.
